

ANOTHER ROYAL VISIT! THE QUEEN RETURNS TO... FREMANTLE STREET ARTS FESTIVAL 2010

Last seen in Fremantle in 2007 the Queen is returning.
All hail – Mario Queen of the Circus.

Back by popular demand this award winning performer will once grace us with his presence.

The creation of New Jersey born and New York City schooled alter ego Clarke McFarlane. Clarke first developed the character for an Off-Broadway hit show – 'Planet Banana'. He took his character solo in 2005 and soon became a festival favourite. Mario Queen of the Circus now performs in English, German and Spanish.

In 2009 Mario was invited to join the now famed La Clique and has been touring with them since. Critically acclaimed, La Cirque has performed to sell-out seasons in Montreal, Melbourne, Sydney, Dublin, New York and Edinburgh where they completed a spectacular 9 month award winning run at the Hippodrome. Currently performing at the Adelaide Fringe Festival, Mario Queen of the Circus is taking a break to visit her loyal subjects in Fremantle.

Described by The Australian Newspaper as 'Too silly for words and great fun', Mario is a born showman and expert in circus artistry and comedy. The Latin lothario "Clearly love the crowd, the feeling is mutual" said The Adelaide Messenger and the New York Times review reports his performance as an "Eccentric sense of humour & playful bawdiness".

Mario's unique mix of complex juggling tricks and universal appeal are pumped to the max with the arena rocking anthems of his favourite super-group – Queen. See his majestic performance at ...
